*Cost of Attendance (COA) - Federal aid regulations mandate that the annual cost of attendance is limited to tuition, fees, supplies, transportation and to provide for a comprehensive living allowance to cover room and board, clothing, transportation, and recreation for the months when the student is actually enrolled in school. Spousal and dependent expenses are not included in the student's cost of attendance budgets on which financial aid is based. Cost of attendance will change for subsequent academic years

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan - annual limit of $20,500 (gross amount). Net amount that may credit student's account will be minus loan origination fee which is subject to Federal regulation changes.

Additional Loan Eligibility is informational only and not aid to accept. This is the amount you can borrow through another loan option up to your COA. Apply at appropriate loan website Amount disbursed to student's account will be minus loan fee.

This information is subject to changes to cost of attendance components, continuous Federal sequestration regulation governing loan interest rates and loan origination fees, rounding up or down of % amounts and changes to institution, state and federal processes and procedures.
